Not illustrated. 1894 Excerpt: .by the Almighty the instrument of all future creation, and that the light called everything into existence. This list might be extended to contain the names of many devout men through many centuries, but coming nearer our own era, we find John Wesley, the great founder of Methodism, declaring his belief in a regular gradation of creation from the animalcule to the archangel, and going even farther than Darwin in announcing the theory that each class in the series advances, and will forever advance, men taking the rank of angels, and brutes the rank of men, and eternal progress and felicity be thus the lot of all saved beings. In our own day, such men as Sir Charles Lyell, the most, eminent of living geologists; Dr. James McCosh, ex-President of Princeton University; Dr. William Harper, President of the Chicago University; Canon Farrar; the Duke of Argyll; Bishop Temple, of London, the most influential thinker at present in the Anglican episcopate; Wilson, archdeacon of Manchester; Professor Henry Drummond, the brilliant lecturer and writer; St. George Mivart; Professor Asa Gray; Alfred R. Wallace, and scores of others, recognized as leaders in Christian thought, have followed in the footsteps of their illustrious predecessors, and have accepted the theory that evolution represents the method of the divine operations, and that, in the words of Robert Browning, All s love, yet all s law. As to the explanation of the production of organic forms by means of evolution and the origination...
