The text is informative, the photos are of early buses, and passengers , and drivers , the old trolley barn of the Springfield Rail company restored , company headquarters , the Greyhound bus terminal in 1939 built by the family and leased by Greyhound , the first diesel engine for a coach in 1947, driver Willie Smith in 1953 believed to be the first black interstate bus driver in the US, facsimile of a Boston Express Bus ticket from late 1940s, and much more.
